MAY & CO. KEEP PACE WITH HONOLULU PROGRESS

Realizing that the most discriminating buyers of the Territory demand perishable food to be kept in a clean and pure condition, Henry May & Co., Ltd., recently installed a new, modern, sanitary system of refrigeration. The equipment consists of a common refrigerator divided into two separate sections with twelve compartments. This allows a certain portion for the exclusive use of butter storage, and the balance devoted to the keeping of other products. In front of this fixture there are two long refrigerated counters for the display of all seasonable delicacies. The entire outfit is finished in white maple, lined with opal glass and white tile. The doors are faced with brilliant mirrors, the fronts are of beveled French plate glass and the interior fixtures consist of nickel-plated shelves.

Henry May & Co., Ltd., is classed among the up-to-date firms of Honolulu, and deserves to be congratulated for the progressive spirit which prevails in the establishment.

POLITICAL NEWS AND NOTES

Thursday, September 19, is the date practically fixed for the Republican county convention. Although there was not a quorum of the county committee present at a meeting called for noon today, enough members were there to decide anything provided they agreed on it, and they did agree that the day already mentioned should be set for the convention.

Another matter pending with the committee is an appeal or protest against a ruling of the chair in the Republican club of the fourth precinct, fifth district, snuffing out a certain slate for the county convention. William Rathburn, the club president, was not in attendance today, but it is said he will be on hand at the adjourned meeting.

Adjournment was taken to the same hour tomorrow. Those present were Chairman William Henry, E. A. Dou-thitt, S. Mahelona, Abraham Fernandez, John Wise, C. S. Bartlett and Isaac Harbottle.

Apparently despairing of beating Jarrett for the shrievalty, candidates for the Republican nomination for the office have not raised their heads or hands, with the exception of John Lane who it is said is entirely willing to make the race but who the party leaders do not consider strong enough to beat Jarrett.

There are half a dozen candidates for deputy sheriff, Rose being considered a better target than his present superior.

KNOX VISIT

stay has been so short, but in this case there is absolutely no chance of extending it, for we are tied by hard and fast dates, and must be in Yokohama before the 13th. The return trip, however, is quite another matter. There are many things which I wish to see here, and I feel justified in making a stop-over. Pearl Harbor, for instance, is one place which I particularly want to visit, and I would consider my trip to Hawaii in a way wasted if I failed to look over our new Pacific naval base. I have followed the progress of Pearl Harbor for a number of years, and while I have what might be termed a paper knowledge of what's going on, I want to see for myself.

Asked at Stay Here.

Asked whether his impressions of Honolulu and vicinity, as gathered in a day and a half, were favorable, Secretary Knox was almost aggressively affirmative.

"You can't exaggerate anything I might have to say in praise of this city," said the Secretary. "Everything has been pleasing, and Mrs.

Home Rula, Charles Nottley, informs his readers that Link McCandless while posing as a Democrat is a Republican at heart. McCandless, he says, is a planter and is receiving aid in his campaign from planters. "If he is elected as a Democrat he will hold office as a Republican," says Nottley.

The Home Rule party will hold its conventions at Nottley Hall, September 17, the day after the Republican convention. The date is selected, it stated to permit of the endorsement of Kuhl's candidacy by the Home Rulers following his expected selection by the Republican convention.

A. Q. Marcellino is a candidate for representative and not for the Senate. In a statement issued this morning he says that he has been informed that a petition is in circulation to promote his candidacy for the Senate. He says it was started without his knowledge or desire, and believes that the effect of the petition, however well meant, will be to hurt his chances for re-election to the House.

The Clem Quinn-Pringle scrap will not down, despite the fact that the Democratic Territorial Central Committee has ordered a new election in Kaimuki to settle the quarrel. Quinn now announces that he will accept formal charges with the Central Committee, accusing Pringle of "conduct unbecoming a Democrat and a gentleman."

Knox and I, and I am sure the other members of the party, greatly appreciate everything that has been done for our reception and entertainment. I'm sorry that the trip around the island had to be called off for lack of time, but this is a pleasure that we will have to look forward to on our return.

On account of the death this morning of General A. S. Hartwell, the automobile tour to the Pali and the National Guard encampment at Moanalua, planned for the entertainment of the Knox party, was called off, and the Secretary entertained at a quiet and informal luncheon given by Governor Frear at the Country Club. The projected motor trip included twenty-four in all, but this party was entirely disregarded when the sad news of the former Territorial official's death came, and only Secretary and Mrs. Knox, Mr. and Mrs. E. A. Mott-Smith, Mrs. Walter Dillingham, Admiral Reynolds, Mr. Miller and the host and hostess, Governor and Mrs. Frear, sat down to the luncheon table.

The party left the Moana hotel at 11 o'clock, and made rather a brief stay at the Country Club, as they were obliged to return to the Maryland before sailing hour, 1 o'clock.

To Study Naval Base.

Neither Admiral Reynolds, who commands the Pacific Reserve fleet, or Mr. Miller, whose official title is head of the Division of Far Eastern Affairs, of the State Department, have ever seen Pearl Harbor, and both, by virtue of their official positions, are very anxious not only to visit but to study the base, which it is believed will become the real key to the Pacific. Both are looking forward to at least a day there on the return journey.

Mr. Miller is headed for familiar ground, for he was secretary of legation at Tokio for several years, and knows Japan like a book. He was last in Honolulu about three years ago, and during the present visit remarked that he saw many changes and improvements.

Admiral Reynolds touched on the matter of Honolulu's harbor, in speaking this morning of the city and its commercial possibilities.

Must Enlarge Harbor.

"When the canal is completed," said the admiral, "Honolulu may find herself in line for shipping that she will not have the facilities to handle. The harbor could easily be enlarged, I understand, by cutting through Kalia way, but this, of course, would involve a good deal of hard dredging through the coral. I have no doubt, though, that a fine harbor could be made for Honolulu if enough money was spent on it."

The Maryland took on 1200 tons of coal yesterday, and by this morning everything was swabbed down, and bright as a new pin. At 1 o'clock she cast off her moorings and made the sweeping Y turn for the outer harbor, the diplomatic party being wished bon voyage by quite a delegation of Territorial and foreign officials.

PHILIPPINE SUGAR AUGUST SHIPMENTS

A late issue of the Manila Bulletin says:

"The New York Conference has refused to contract for further space for sugar in conference steamers until after September 1.

"The reason given by the Conference for their action is that all the available space for August has been contracted for and that the Conference desires to wait until it can ascertain what freight accommodations will be available after September 1 before making further contracts.

"Space for from between 24,000 and 25,000 tons of sugar, which is being shipped to New York on consignment by prominent planters and dealers, has been arranged for the month of August, and this will go forward during the month of August."

Clarence S. Darrow is to make his home in Los Gatos, California, and practise law in San Jose.
